Katrina,

We do not see it necessary to get BIA clearance for this project. However, we would like for our land analyst, Archie Simpson and our conservationist, Robert Fixico to meet you at the property for the sample collection and areas of concern. Let us know when your plans and we will pass the information on to Archie and Robert. thanks Danielle, Our next phase of work will be to go to areas of potential concern and collect samples. This work will be more involved than just a walk through. Prior to going out to perform work, we have been meeting with the residents to discuss the sampling and actions that we are planning to implement on the property. I think that since we will be doing sampling and investigation actions, I need to make sure that I have all appropriate access agreements. Can you assist me with finding out who at BIA I should be talking to?

thanks

Katrina,

I think that since you are just doing a walk through BIA consent is not necessary. I would like for a couple of Realty folks to go out with you when you do the walk through. Just let us know when you plan on going so we can coordinate with you and we can notify (b) (6). Thanks

Danielle, I am following up with you regarding the discussions we had with (b) (6) back in July 2015. During our discussions, one lingering questions we had revolved around the need for BIA consent for access. As you may remember, part of her property is restricted property. We do have a signed access agreement from (b) (6). If we need BIA consent, then I need to begin that process because we hope to be out in the field this summer. We have missed each other using the phone, so I am sending this email to complement those messages.

I understand that you are out this week, so I will follow-up with you next week.

Thank you for your time
